Welcome message from the Chair

Dear Friends, Welcome to the 2nd quarter 2019 Newsletter. I am honored and excited to be the new Chair of the g7+, replacing H.E. Nabeela F. Tunis who has taken up new portfolio as Minister of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation of Sierra Leone.

The second quarter of 2019 has been very productive for the g7+ with two major Ministerial Meetings - the Justice Ministers’ meeting and the Annual g7+ Ministers’ meeting - held back to back in June 2019.

I would like to thank g7+ member countries for the active engagement that made our 5th Ministerial Meeting, held in Lisbon, Portugal from 26-27 June 2019 was a huge success. I look forward to our collective efforts in achieving the commitments and priorities set out in the Lisbon Communiqué.

The g7+ family expresses its grave concern for the people of Yemen who are facing the horrors of an active conflict and famine. In the same vein, the g7+ family also shares the agony of the People of Democratic Republic of Congo, who are facing an outbreak of Ebola that has claimed so many lives and has become a global concern. We stand in solidarity with our brothers and sisters in these two countries and to support them in any way we could bring an end to their predicament and for them to forge ahead with their pursuit of peace and development in their respective countries.

I commend the effort of our development partners in their continued support to the g7+ group’s agenda of peacebuilding and statebuilding at the country and globally. We thanked in particular, the Government of Sweden for their support to the g7+ Secretariat, the pledge of support by the Government of Finland and we look forward to expanding our collaboration with the Republic of Korea and other potential donors. I thank you and hope you enjoy reading our newsletter.

The g7+ together with the Club of Lisbon held a conference "Natural Resources for Resilience and Development", on 25 June 2019 at the EDP Auditorium in Lisbon, Portugal. The Conference was an opportunity to share ideas and perspectives on how natural resources should be managed so that they can support peacebuilding and statebuilding in g7+ countries. The Conference brought together government members from various g7+ countries, including the distinguished Chair of the g7+ and Minister of Planning and Economic Development of Sierra-Leone, Francis Kaikai, Eminent person of the g7+, Xanana Gusmão, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Cooperation of Timor-Leste, Dionisio Babo Soares, and Deputy Minister of Mines and Petroleum of Afghanistan, Wali Zadran.

Other participants included Jose Ramos-Horta, Special Envoy of g7+, and the renowned scholar, Sir Paul Collier, in addition to other academics and representatives of international organizations, civil society and the private sector.

All the participants agreed that natural resources can be a curse as well as a blessing, and that institutions and policies are the key to determining which of these two outcomes prevails.

State fragility was regarded as a characteristic of all states at various times, not just countries experiencing or recovering from conflict. The contemporary pressures of globalization create strains on the State as an institution which is a universal element of fragility and requires innovative and cooperative solutions.

Some of the institutions for natural resource management that were discussed at the Conference included mechanisms for accountability and transparency, checks and balances, sovereign funds to ensure that revenue streams are spread out over time, auctions, and licensing rules.

It was also pointed out that beyond mechanisms for transparency and accountability, a purposive and forward-looking vision by the country’s leaders about where the nation is heading is a key factor for ensuring that natural resources constitute a factor of progress and development. The g7+ will be establishing a platform in the context of Fragile-to-Fragile Cooperation, with support from the g7+ Foundation, to promote peer learning and the sharing of experiences on natural resource management, with a view to issuing a flagship publication on this topic.
g7+ HLPF Side event:
SDG 16 in Conflict-Affected Situation;
Ambition vs Reality

The chair of g7+ and other speakers from the group highlighted the importance of addressing fragility as condition to achieve the aspiration of Agenda 2030. Countries affected by conflict are anticipated to be home to more than 80% of the poorest by 2030; if proved true, this will imply our failure in achieving the ambition set by agenda 2030.

The panellist emphasised the importance of country ownership, in implementing Agenda 2030. Experiences from countries that have achieved stability after prolonged conflict provide ample evidence how important is country leadership in achieving Peace and stability.

“Many g7+ countries have integrated the SDGs into the national plan, with SDG 16 being the most crucial. The biggest challenges are lack of funding, capacity and insecurity”

The g7+ Secretariat launched the report on the 20 SDG indicators jointly monitored by the g7+ group. An interim version is now available on the g7+ website.*

Voluntary National Review Process in Central African Republic

By: Mr. Bienvenu Herve-Kovoungbo, g7+ Focal Point in CAR.

Upon the return to constitutional order, the Central African Republic Government organized in June 2016, the official launch of activities to implement the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) at the political level. This event was placed under the Very High Priorities of The President of the Republic, His Excellency, Professor Faustin Archange TOUADERA.

The Government has also embarked on a comprehensive process of reconstruction of the country through a voluntarism and consensual policy through the development of the National Plan for Recovery and Consolidation of Peace (RCPCA), with the support from the United Nations (UN), the World Bank and the European Union. This plan was broken down into three pillars: (i) to support peace, security and reconciliation; (ii) renew the social contract between the state and the population; (iii) economic recovery and revival of the productive sectors. This plan was presented at the donors ‘and investors’ conference in Brussels on 17 November 2016.
The country is now established on the trajectory of recovery, peacebuilding and revival of its economy. Since June 2018, the country has begun the process of alignment, contextualization and prioritization of the SDG targets on the RCPCA with the international technical assistance through the UNDP regional office in Addis Ababa. This process continued until February 2019 enabled the Integrated Rapid Assessment (RIA) to measure the degree of alignment of the National Recovery and Peacebuilding Plan on the SDGs to around 50% and about 38 targets were prioritized.

In addition, the country has volunteered to conduct its National Review of the SDG 16 “Peace, Justice and Effective Institutions”, monitor and regularly submit a follow-up report on the implementation of the SDG to the UN High Level Political Forum (HLPF). Since January 2019, the government set up a task force team on Voluntary National Review (VNR) led through the National Multi-stakeholder Coordination, placed under the supervision of the Minister of Economy, Planning and Development Cooperation to prepare the VNR report. This process has been conducted in a very inclusive way involving representatives of Republican institutions, sectoral ministries, civil society organizations, private sector, local communities, women and youth and women.

The VNR report of SDG was validated in March 2019 and its conclusions show that, despite the progress made, the country still faces enormous difficulties. From 08 to 11 May 2019, His Excellency the Prime Minister, Head of Government has officially launched the enrichment work of the VNR report and this work continued until June through a wide consultation for the validation of the report. Civil society also organized in parallel with the support of the TAP Network, SCPPS, CORDAID, World Vision and the New Deal Country Team in a workshop on May 7th to consolidate their contribution to the VNR.

On July 17, 2019, the Central African Republic presented its first National Voluntary Report to the HLPF on the six SDGs ODs goals namely: SDGs 4, 8, 10, 13, 16 and 17, which highlight our progress in sustainable development and reflect on the challenges facing the country, after four years of implementation the 2030 agenda, and especially after three years of implementation of the National Recovery Plan and Consolidation of Peace (2017-2021).

In conclusion, the signing of the Peace and Reconciliation Agreement in February 2019 with the various armed groups and the formation of a Government of National Unity testifies to the Government’s desire to make peace a prerequisite for its development. The operationalization of a special criminal court has given a strong signal of a state of law that is recovering in and will continue until June through a wide consultation for the validation of the report. Civil society also organized in parallel with the support of the TAP Network, SCPPS, CORDAID, World Vision and the New Deal Country Team in a workshop on May 7th to consolidate their contribution to the VNR.

On behalf of the g7+, I participated in the Stockholm International Peace and Research Institute (SIPRI) Forum from 14 to 16 May, where, the g7+ was invited to speak on the session “Constitutional building and Statebuilding, Judicial System and Finance and Tax System” for senior officials from the Ministry of Justice of Timor-Leste, Guinea-Bissau, São Tomé e Príncipe, Côte d’Ivoire and Sierra Leone. The program took place in Coimbra, Portugal, and focused on the leading role of the judiciary in ensuring the access to justice in fragile countries. The Coimbra Workshop was developed under the Memorandum of Understanding signed between the g7+ and the University of Coimbra in 2017. This partnership aims at sharing with and among the g7+ member countries legal study for the continuing enhancement of development and resilience of the g7+ member countries.

As Timor-Leste is celebrating its 20th Anniversary of Referendum, I am very thrilled to welcome several representatives from g7+ countries who will attend this historic event, as a sign of sharing experiences in reconciliation, peacebuilding and statebuilding. I sincerely thank all the support and collaboration from our member states, stakeholders, partners and civil society organizations.
